

OURS IS A "WORLD POWER."

The United States Has Not Recently Attained That Distinction.

"Ours is a world power, and as such it must be maintained, but I deny that it is at all recently that the United States has attained that eminence. Our country became a world power over a century ago, when, having thrown off foreign domination, the people established a free government, the source of whose authority sprang, and was continuously to proceed, from the will of the people themselves. It grew as a world power as its sturdy citizens, to whose natural increase were added immigrants from the old world seeking to obtain here the liberty and prosperity denied them in their own countries, spread over the face of the land, reduced the prairies and forests to cultivation, built cities, constructed highways and railroads, till now a nation which at the formation of the government numbered only three millions in population, has become eighty millions, and from ocean to ocean and the lakes to the gulf, the country is the abode of a free and prosperous people, advanced in the highest degree in the learning and arts of civilization. It is the liberty, the advancement and the prosperity of its citizens, not any career of conquest, that make the country a world power. This condition we owe to the bounty of Providence, unfolded in the great natural resources of the country, to the wisdom of our fathers, manifested in the form of government established by them, to the energy, industry, moral character and law-abiding spirit of the people themselves." [From Judge Parker's speech of acceptance.]

REPUBLICAN EXTRAVAGANCE.

The extravagance of the present administration is a difficult matter for its apologists to explain. First, there is the deficit for the fiscal year 1893-'4 of over $41,000,000 staring them in the face, which has reduced the available cash balance in the United States Treasury to the zero point, so that Secretary Shaw will probably have to again call on the banks for another installment of the cash they hold and on which they pay no interest. It is all very well to call the payments for the Panama Canal an "extraordinary" expense and as excuses the present conditions. There are other expenses that this administration has piled up that are equally extraordinary that no excuses can palliate or gloss over.

Take the expenditures for the year before the war with Spain, when the Democrats were in power and the appropriations made by the Republicans for the present year, and the extravagance of the present administration is at once apparent.

	1896-'7.	1898-'4.
Civil and miscellaneous.....	$90,000,000	$123,000,000
War Department.....	48,000,000	115,000,000
Navy Department.....	84,000,000	102,000,000
Total.....	$172,000,000	$340,000,000

This makes $177,000,000 more this year than in 1896—more than double as much. What excuse can the Republican apologists offer for such a vast increase, and how do they propose to further tax the people to support such extravagance?

HEROISM AND LOVE OF COUNTRY.

"The Government of the United States was organized solely for the people of the United States. While it was contemplated that this country should become a refuge for the oppressed of every land, who might be fit to discharge the duties of our citizenship, and while we have always sympathized with the people of every nation in their struggles for self-government, the government was not created for a career of political or civilizing evangelization in foreign countries or among alien races. The most efficient work we can do in uplifting the people of other countries is by the presentation of a happy, prosperous, self-governing nation as an ideal to be emulated, a model to be followed. The general occupation of our citizens in the arts of peace, or the absence of large military armaments, tends to impair neither patriotism nor physical courage, and for the truth of this I refer the young men of to-day to the history of the Civil War. For fifty years, with the exception of the war with Mexico, this country had been at peace, with a standing army most of the time of less than ten thousand men. He who thinks that the nation had grown effeminate during that period should read the casualty rolls of the armies on either side at Shiloh, Antietam, Fredericksburg and Gettysburg, at Stone River and Chickamauga. I would be the last man to pluck a single laurel from the crown of any one of the military heroes to whom this country owes so much, but I insist that their most heroic deeds proceeded infinitely more from devotion to the country than from martial spirit." [From Judge Parker's speech of acceptance.]

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man.
